The Mostly Legal Podcast: Season 2, Episode 10 "Live Life Like Someone Left the Gate Open"

developers · Friday, May 6th, 2022

This week's guest on the Mostly Legal Podcast is proof that you really can have it all! Suzy Klepac (Office Administrator, Kirk & Chaney PLLC) has served in multiple administrative roles at various law firms for the last six years, but she recently embarked on her greatest challenge – working remotely full time with a newborn. Working parents everywhere will be inspired to hear Suzy's story of work-life balance in the fast-paced legal industry, which, according to her, is a little like living life like someone left the gate open. Don't let the goats out!

Suzy is a self-proclaimed "founding mother" of the First Five, a group of individuals within the Association of Legal Administrators (ALA) who at the time, were all in their first five years of working in legal management. They found the organization did not have much programming that catered to professionals who were newbies to the legal industry and set out to change that via an online community. Today, it's a safe place on the Internet where legal administrators early in their careers can ask questions judgment-free to peers likely going through the same experiences.

Suzy has also been involved in orchestrating chapter membership drives, chapter visibility campaigns, and community outreach programs. In 2017, she was one of the first members to join the Association's Product and Service Review Committee, chairing the Committee from May 2020 to May 2021. In 2018, Suzy and two other legal administrators started the ALA FirstFive Online Community, which is geared towards legal managers in the first five-ish years of their career, offering education and a safe space to ask questions. Suzy is currently serving as a Chapter Resource Team member and continues to co-moderate the FirstFive Online Community.
